Law Enforcement

Requests from Japanese law enforcement accounted for 69% of the total.

- From January to June 2022, we received 2,267 requests from law enforcement agencies all over the world. This marks a decrease of 5% from the previous period. Information was disclosed in 1,583 requests for a decrease of 14% from the previous period in the total number of disclosures.
- Out of the 1,583 requests in which information was disclosed, 1,452 involved the communication app LINE (henceforth "LINE"), a decrease of 13% compared to the 1,676 requests fulfilled the previous period.
- 35% of disclosures were related to incidents involving financial harm. In Japan, most disclosures were related to financial harm (31%). In Taiwan, the country with the second-highest number of disclosures, most disclosures were also related to financial harm (47%).
- Data related to 2,495 pieces of contact information were disclosed as part of the 1,583 requests that we fulfilled. This is a ratio of 1.58 pieces of contact information per fulfilled request. The previous period saw a ratio of 1.49 pieces of contact information per fulfilled request.
- This period marked the first time since we began compiling statistics that a request was received from Ireland, Denmark, and Bangladesh. We began compiling statistics in 2016 and have received requests from 23 countries and regions to date.
- Most requests came from Japanese (69%) and Taiwanese (27%) law enforcement agencies.

- For every one million monthly active users in Japan, data related to 20.3 pieces of contact information were disclosed to law enforcement. For every one million monthly active users in Taiwan, data related to 28.0 pieces of contact information were similarly disclosed.
- A large number of “Investigation-Related Inquiries” in Japan (74) were related to LINE Pay. We will only respond to “Investigation-Related Inquiries” if there is detailed proof of money laundering, fraud, or other criminal activity; if damages have been caused via LINE Pay; or if LINE Pay was used in a crime. We will not disclose user information if law enforcement agencies do not provide detailed evidence of a crime being committed. For details on our policy regarding responding to and disclosing information to law enforcement agencies, see Responding to Law Enforcement Agencies.

Report notes

- This report covers information on the number of disclosure requests from law enforcement made to us and the number of cases which were actually disclosed in the relevant 6-month period.
- The reports prior to and including Jan-Jun 2018 cover data related to the LINE app only. The reports for Jul-Dec 2018 and onward cover data related to all services that LINE Corporation provides. The reports for Jul-Jun 2020 and onward cover data related to services provided by LINE Corporation and its group companies. Check the service list below for a list of relevant services.
 - Starting from Jan-Jun 2021, we have changed the method by which we calculate report statistics. Up until this period, we counted requests that were both received and fulfilled within the report period in our statistics. From Jan-Jun 2021 onward, we will count only requests fulfilled within the report period regardless of when they were received.
- We comply with disclosure requests from Japanese law enforcement when at least one of the following legal grounds is met:
 - Warrant (Code of Criminal Procedure): A document issued by a court by request of a law enforcement agency that permits seizure, inspection or other activities.
 - Investigation-Related Inquiry (Code of Criminal Procedure): An information disclosure request from law enforcement to a business operator or other entity for aiding in an investigation.
 - Emergency (Penal Code): An emergency action taken when a human life or rights are under threat. For “LINE”, this means identifying a relevant user when, for example, a bomb threat or suicide threat is made.
- “Warrants” and “Investigation-Related Inquiries” include requests received originally as “Emergencies” but fulfilled in accordance with corresponding procedures for relevant legal documents.
- We will only cooperate with criminal investigations in accordance with strict information handling rules, and only when a thorough verification confirms the legality or overall propriety of the investigation.

- A single request may include multiple pieces of contact information.
- We fulfill requests from overseas in accordance with frameworks for international investigation cooperation such as 'The Act on International Assistance in Investigation and Other Related Matters' and mutual legal assistance treaties (MLAT) with specific countries. This includes instances where the Japanese police receive a request via the International Criminal Police Organization (ICPO) or Japan's Ministry of Foreign Affairs receives a request via an embassy. The same rules regarding warrants and verification by privacy protection organizations and other handling rules still apply.
- "Targeted Contact Information" indicates the specific user contact information (phone number, LINE ID, etc.) that authorities identified as relevant to their investigation.
